From the Principal:

"Playing fair..."

"Not everyday is a good day, live anyway.

Not all you love will love you back, love anyway.

Not everyone will tell you the truth, be honest anyway.

Not all deals are fair, play fair anyway." (Anonymous)

465 children live, work and play together for almost 200 days of the school year at Sacred Heart. Each one of our children brings a different personality, different understandings, tolerance levels and ability to cope. One of the greatest joys of being in our school community is knowing that each child is different. Our hope for each child is that they learn from experience, grow from doing and develop a greater appreciation from others for coexisting.

In our SHS Team we know that competition can be good for children.

When children compete against each other, the game becomes a challenge and motivates children to do their best. This can improve skills, encourage discipline and focus, and make children feel good about their achievements. Competition also increases the desire to win. And that's when children can sometimes find it hard to play fair. Because they want to win, they might challenge rules and other players. Some might get into arguments with their teammates and even start cheating. When children aren't playing fair...

Here are some ideas for those times when your child is finding it tough to play fair:

- Take your child out of the game and talk calmly and clearly about what you expect from her behaviour. Let her know what she can do to play fairly. For example, 'It's important that everyone follows the rules and the rules say that you can only have one throw each turn'. You can also let her know that it's hard but important to play fairly – this might help her control her feelings.
- If your child keeps behaving the same way or if it gets worse, deal with his behaviour. You might have to take him out of the game, and talk with him later when he calms down.
- Talk to your child about her feelings of frustration and what she should do next time. Before your child plays the next game, you could try setting up some ground rules. For example, 'If you complain about the rules, I'll stop you from playing the game'.
- Remind your child that games are about having fun, not about winning or losing. Try to give feedback that focuses on the fun of the game, not who won or lost.
- If your child is bragging about winning as a way of getting attention or respect from others, try praising him for his efforts in other areas more – for example, when he cooperates with others, shares or is helpful.

Winning and losing...

It's not about winning or losing – it's about how you play the game. When your child understands this, she'll be a 'good sport' and have fun playing, no matter whether she wins or loses.

Winning is a great feeling, and it's OK for your child to feel proud of being the winner. It's also important for your child to be a good winner. This means showing sympathy and support to the losing team or player. If you can, try to discourage your child from boasting and instead highlight the fun that everyone had playing the game.

Sometimes it's hard to turn losing into a good experience for your child. But emphasising how well your child played is really important in helping him handle bad feelings. Praise your child's efforts. For example, 'You were great at helping the younger kids' or 'You followed the rules really well'.

Children – and even adults – find it easier to lose in a game of luck than in a game of skill. This is because losing a game of chance doesn't say anything about you or your abilities. If your child is having difficulty dealing with losing, try playing games of chance first, then build up to skill-based activities.

Remember at Sacred Heart we will always promote 'It's how you play the game' first and foremost.
"Just play. Have fun. Enjoy the game." (Michael Jordan)

Poetry

A Cat By Benjamin (Year 4, 2019)

a bit louder
it's fluent
stops
nerves
unknowing words
so delicate
a cat sleeping on a rug
that was a picture
stopping
a flute repeating words
the ham was champagne
and the tabby woke up

Torrent By Italia (Year 4, 2019)

a wobbly post
with a walking
non stop talking
bird on top
clawing
a spiny leaf
that looks like
the Canadian flag
with water drops
falling down
all over
a world of
reflective mirrors
and a woman with a beard

In the world there
is this thing
called
the magic
picture

And there
is only one of
them in
the world

And it
holds the power of seeing
my Dad through it

Student absences

If your child will be absent from school please remember to either:

- call the School office on 63311011
- email shsl@catholic.tas.edu.au
- use the Skoolbag app, fill out an eForm
- advise their teacher

If you arrive at school after 9am your child must be walked into the office via the York Street gate and report to the school office to update our records and avoid unnecessary absentee text messages.

It is a legal requirement that parents are expected to advise the school as to why their child is absent.

Signing students out during the day

- You must sign your child out if you need to pick them up from school for an appointment or for your child to leave early.
- Please pre-arrange this with your child's class teacher and the teacher will send your child to the office at the required time so you can collect them from the office and sign them out.

WORKING WITH VULNERABLE PEOPLE REGISTRATION

If parents do not have registration or registration is pending you will not be able to volunteer and attend the excursion or school event. This is something that we do not want to have to do but as legislation and system policy we need to adhere to.

How to apply for a WWVP and Number

1. Complete the online application form www.justice.tas.gov.au/working_with_children
2. Print the "Application Receipt" which is generated when the application has been completed in full
3. Take the "Application Receipt" to a Service Tasmania shop, pay the fee ($17.60) and have your 100 point check to confirm identity

Once your registration has been approved and you receive your WWVP card, please bring it to the school office so your name, registration number and expiry date can be recorded and verified.

Fire Alarm

A reminder that if in the instance a fire alarm is sounded whilst parents are on the school site, you are required to assemble on the oval. Students remain with teachers as part of the process is for the staff to ensure all students are accounted for. If parked on York when the fire engine arrives it is vital that you vacate the area to allow the fire engine access.
